

Watch out for heavy vehicles

Trucks and buses have blind spots where the driver can't see you, and they may need to swing wide or cut the corner when turning.

- Ride to be seen and be predictable don't swerve in and out of gaps.
- Stay back if a truck or bus is turning, or may be about to turn.
- Stop where the driver can see you.
- In a queue, wait behind trucks and buses – it's safer than trying to pass.
- If in doubt, stay back and stay safe.
- Choose safe routes.

Visit www.sharetheroad.org.nz for more info.

Wait behind the bus/truck, but be aware the driver won't see you if reversing.

If you must pass, pass on the right, but beware of the blind zone.

Wait in front of the bus/truck where you can be seen by the driver.

Never pass buses or trucks on the left, even when stopped.

